

Northlake Meter and Point Setup

PREPARED BY Energy Hippo implementation team

Packet 0.3 | Issued 2026-09-14 | Enter on the Utility Provider, Meter and Point editors

What each meter and point needs beyond its name and its place in the hierarchy. The same values, one row per object and with blank columns for the installed IDs, are in `data/eem/northlake-instance-mapping.template.csv`.

The product creates some of these itself. Saving a register point creates its usage point and a rate-of-change point; a temperature index creates the degree-day points; a baseline setting creates its baseline point. Of the 431 points listed here, 299 are entered and EEM generates 264 more behind them, so never enter a point marked Generated.

Three limits the editors enforce: a point archives on 1, 5, 10, 15, 30, 60 or 1440 minutes and nothing else, so a monthly route read carries no interval at all; the degree-day index is offered only on a Temperature point; and a digital point must use the Digital measure type with the State unit.

Utility providers

The Utility Provider editor. The provider owns the bill cycle calendar: a meter stores only the cycle number, which is why its Bill Cycle stays locked until a provider is chosen.

Points by editor combination

Every combination the Point editor is asked for, and how many points use it. Archive Interval is blank where a point archives nothing, such as a monthly route read.

Meters

The Meter editor for each meter. A multiplier is blank where the meter records exactly what its source delivers, and the bill cycle is the number the provider runs for that company.

A meter's Bill Cycle stays locked until its utility provider is set, and saving a meter takes the provider from its billing account. Enter the account first and the provider follows.
